Annual U.N. Session Will Begin Today

Assembly Agenda Topped By Mideast, Hungarian Crises

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 11 (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold said today he had asked Hungary for prompt information on how much outside relief its people need.

He also disclosed Hungary ignored his requests for permission to send in U. N. observers until he asked Russia last night to help him get an answer. The Soviet-backed Hungarian government then replied in a matter of hours that it was weighing the request.

The Hungarian and Middle East crises top the agenda for the U. N. General Assembly's annual regular session opening tomorrow.

Burns Coming To U.S.

A U. N. spokesman announced that Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U. N. command for an international cease-fire force for Egypt, would talk with Egyptian President Nasser in Cairo tomorrow afternoon and arrive here Wednesday to confer with Hammarskjold.

The spokesman said Swiss Air would be ready late tomorrow or early Tuesday to begin ferrying the U. N. police force to Egypt from a staging area at Capodichino Airport, near Naples. Military units from seven small nations are gathering there.

He said the U. N. still is waiting to hear from Egypt as to whether the men could be based. The force is being sent there in line with Assembly resolutions to supervise the cease-fire and withdrawal of British, French and Israeli troops.

Acted Under Resolution

Hammarskjold made public correspondence he has carried on under a U. S. resolution adopted 50-8 in an emergency U. N. session a week ago.

The resolution called on Soviet troops to withdraw from Hungary where they have been crushing a popular uprising. It asked Hammarskjold to send observers to Hungary to report on the situation.

Notes Sent Russia, Hungary

In mid-afternoon Hammarskjold dispatched notes both to Hungary and to the Soviet Union. The one to Hungary said he got no reply this time, he would "submit the situation to the General Assembly for consideration and the steps it may wish to take."

The one to Russia asked that it "support my demand to the government of Hungary" to admit the observers.

Hungarian Deputy Foreign Minister Istvan Sebes messaged Hammarskjold last night he had received the note and "the Hungarian government is weighing its contents."

Permanent UN Police Force Is Suggested

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd suggested tonight the United Nations establish a permanent police force ready to act to keep the peace.

He told newsmen on his departure for the U. N. General Assembly in New York:

"I know we have come to differences of opinion with members of the United Nations, but I believe the results will show how necessary it is, in order to be effective, to have some permanent body able to take action and I think that will contribute to the peace of the world."

ROK Volunteers

SEOUL, Nov. 11 (AP)—The South Korean army reported today that men from the ranks are "volunteering" to fight Soviet troops in Hungary.

U.S. Supersonic Bomber Makes Its First Flight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The B58 Hustler, the nation's first supersonic bomber, made its initial flight today at Fort Worth, Tex., the U. S. Air Force announced.

The huge aircraft, built by Convair, took off at 3:41 p.m. and flew for 38 minutes.

The flight was described as "routine" by Convair's chief pilot, Beryl A. Erickson.

The B58, which is capable of flying faster than the speed of sound, made its first taxiing run on Oct. 29.

The Pentagon did not disclose whether the bomber actually exceeded the speed of sound today. This speed varies between 760 m.p.h. at sea level and 670 m.p.h. at 35,000 feet.

The B58 has a crew of three—a pilot, a navigator-bombardier and a defensive systems operator.

The Hustler is powered by four General Electric J79 jet engines, housed in separate nacelles below the delta wing.

Ike, Aides Face Job Of Mending Western Ties

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower and his foreign policy advisers face a formidable task in trying to check the spread of Soviet power and influence in the Middle East as a result of Western defeats in the recent crises.

The whole shaky structure of political relationships, economic influence and treaty ties has all but collapsed as a result of the British-French-Israeli attacks on Egypt beginning two weeks ago and Russia's threat of all-out support for the Egyptian cause.

The problem now confronting Eisenhower, as well as Prime Minister Anthony Eden of Britain and Premier Guy Mollet of France is not only how to extricate Western interests from the disaster but also how to create new safeguards against further fighting in the area.

Ike Relies On U.N.

Eisenhower is relying heavily on the United Nations to handle the immediate crisis and the hope here is that the assignment of a U. N. police force to keep the peace in Egypt can be carried off without serious Soviet intervention.

Fears that the Middle East conflict would lead to World War III, which were felt here early last week, have now subsided with the prospect that the cease-fire to which all parties have agreed can be maintained.

But the easing of the emergency has merely cleared the air enough for U. S. officials to take a long and serious look at the results of the British-French decision to try to resolve their various disputes with Egyptian President (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

$2,000,000 Fire At AEC Plant

PADUCAH, Ky., Nov. 11 (AP)—Fire at the Atomic Energy Commission's gaseous diffusion plant near here early today caused damage estimated at more than two million dollars to one of the plant's smaller buildings.

K. C. Brooks, the AEC's Paducah area manager, who estimated the damage, said there was no radiation hazard created as a result of the fire. And he said there was "absolutely no danger" to the surrounding area or to personnel working in the plant.

Brooks said a preliminary investigation indicated the fire was caused by overheating in a faulty piece of equipment.

The plant, located 16 miles west of Paducah, has noted to do with the manufacture or assembly of atomic weapons.

Clogged Arteries Bored Clean In New Operation

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP)—Clogged arteries that cause heart attacks have been scraped clean in humans for the first time in thrilling new surgery, two surgeons announced today.

"Rusted" coronary arteries were bored clean much like rusted or stopped-up water pipes are reamed.

A thin, hollow instrument pushed through the arteries cut away plugs of fatty material that had caused heart attacks, and threatened to cause new ones.

Two men, both victims of heart attacks like President Eisenhower's, had this historic surgery in the last two weeks. Each time the cleaning out increased the vital flow of blood to the heart muscle.

Hungary Red Puppet Chief, Nagy Confer

Premier's Support Bid Seen Rejected; Fighting Continues

VIENNA, Nov. 11 (AP)—Hungarian nationalists tightened their belts and fought on today with both arms and passive resistance against a late which Josef Cardinal Mindszenty expects to be "greater oppression if the United Nations does not save us."

A procession of Western newsmen caught in Budapest by the surprise Soviet attack a week ago finally made their way out to neutral Austria with fresh details of the onslaught and the slow silencing of the guns of the freedom fighters.

They crossed in dreary weather and a biting wind.

From Budapest came word that Janos Kadar, the puppet premier installed with the backing of Russian guns, had met with his deposed predecessor, Imre Nagy, in a desperate attempt to gain popular support.

Kadar Apparently Rebuffed

Nothing is known of the talks except that they began, but Kadar implied in a radio speech at 10 a.m. that Nagy was unwilling to cooperate.

Nagy had built up a broadly based government of all Hungary's traditional parties when the Russians unseated him.

Cardinal Mindszenty's somber view of the situation was expressed to Western newsmen a week ago in an interview that reached Vienna today.

"Far quicker and more effective steps are needed," said the Roman Catholic primate—freed from a guarded castle just 12 days ago and now a refugee in the U.S. legation.

"A man who is drowning needs no messages."

"What we need is that the secretary general of the United Nations comes to Budapest today and not tomorrow. There has been much too much voting and oratory. What we need is action now."

25,000 Estimated Dead
A Soviet army estimated at 200,000 men holds the rebellious nation in its iron grip.

And the Moscow Radio told the Hungarian people in a broadcast tonight the Russian-commanded eight nation Warsaw alliance, under which Soviet troops are based in Hungary, "must remain in force as long as the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance — NATO — is in force."

Western estimates of the dead ranged up to 5,000 Russians, 20,000 Hungarians.

Most of the dozens of newsmen in the exodus from Budapest—finally authorized by the Russians with travel papers checked repeatedly by Soviet soldiers on the road west — were inclined to believe rebel resistance is dying. Some, however, looked for a revival with in two weeks.

At the Hungarian capital, ripped by methodical shelling of Russian guns in some cases seeking out a single sniper, organized fighting went on only in industrial Csepel Island in the Danube.

A Red Cross convoy bearing 27 tons of food and 2 tons of medical supplies finally was allowed by Communist authorities to cross from Austria into Hungary. Dr. Hans Willner, Swiss Red Cross official, led the 15-vehicle convoy to Budapest. Earlier the Communists said all western relief supplies would have to be rerouted through Communist Yugoslavia.

Chiang Plane Downed

HONG KONG, Nov. 11 (AP)—Peiping Chinese said today a Nationalist plane C-46 transport with nine soldiers aboard was shot down by a Communist Chinese plane last night over Hangchow on the east China coast.

Airlines To Resume Flights To Egypt

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Navy planes and ships, searching the Atlantic for a missing seaplane with 10 men aboard, converged tonight on a Spanish freighter which reported sighting a white flare.

The freighter, the S.S. Astor, said it saw the flare about 300 miles northwest of Bermuda. No further details were available.

The Navy last heard from the Bermuda-based patrol plane at 8:30 p.m. EST, Friday. About a half-hour later a Liberian freighter reported seeing a plane going down in flames about 400 miles north of Bermuda.

The four lines which will resume flights are the U. S.-owned Trans World Airlines, Dutch-owned KLM, Swiss Air, and Air India.

West Newsmen Reach Austria From Hungary

NICKELSDORF, Austro-Hungarian Frontier, Nov. 11 (AP)—Several dozen Western newsmen, trapped for a week within Budapest, crossed into Austria in dreary weather and a biting wind today.

Most were inclined to believe Hungarian rebel resistance is waning under the weight of Russian power.

Two Associated Press staff men, correspondent George Boulwood and photographer James Pringle, were in the exodus. With them was Boulwood's son, George Peter Boulwood, 17, who also experienced the civil war.

Halted 10 Times

The three came by car after working three days to get travel papers the Russians would recognize. They were halted at 10 Russian-controlled checkpoints on the 150-mile drive from Budapest to the frontier. They reported Andre Marton, AP resident correspondent in Budapest, and his family were safe.

Edmund Burks of the Baltimore Sun told newsmen at the border Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, the Hungarian Catholic prelate freed in Rome's October revolution, was still at the United States legation. The cardinal took refuge there when the Russians attacked Budapest last Sunday.

Other Arrivals

Other arrivals included John MacCormac and Henry Ginner of the New York Times, Barrett McGurn of the New York Herald Tribune and Seymour Freidlin of the New York Post.

Charles Hiott, a free-lance correspondent from Washington, was another to get out. His parents live at Rockingham, N. C.

Bravest Of Brave Open Convention

LAKELAND, Fla., Nov. 11 (AP)—The bravest of the brave today asked God to make this nation strong, but they also prayed for peace in this anxious world.

Men like Bill Harrell, a double amputee from San Antonio, Tex., stood with heads bowed under a warm sun and offered prayers for their comrades who never came back.

Men like Maj. Ernest Childers of Northwest Oklahoma City, Okla., first Indian to receive the Medal of Honor, asked God to give courage to military men.

A few stood on artificial legs. Others showed the scars of war. Another like Charles MacGillivray of Baintree, Mass., had an empty sleeve stuck in his coat pocket.

These men of valor are wearers of the Medal of Honor. They are meeting here as members of the Medal of Honor Society which is holding its first national convention.

Reds Send Men, Arms To Egypt

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—An official British source said tonight the Soviet bloc had built Egypt into a powerful arms camp and sent at least 1,000 Communist air crews and technicians in to run things before the conflict which began last month.

The informant estimated the worth of Soviet arms in Egypt at 150 million pounds—420 million dollars.

The 1,000 Communist technicians went to Egypt, the informant added, along with 50 bombers, at least 100 fighter planes, about 300 tanks, 2 destroyers, 4 mine-sweepers, at least 1 submarine and some 300 Russians and Czechs made for the Sudan shortly after Anglo-French intervention," the source said. "A number of them appeared to be air crews and mechanics."

What happened to the rest of the 1,000 was not made clear. As to the 300 men who reportedly fled, the report said: "It is not clear whether they were allowed to enter the Sudan."

Victor Young, Noted Composer, Dies At 56

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Nov. 11 (AP)—Victor Young, 56, composer of hit songs and musical scores for motion pictures, died of a heart attack here yesterday.

He was stricken shortly after arriving in this desert resort from his Hollywood home.

Young's songs included "Sweet Sue," "Street of Dreams," "Ghost of a Chance" and "Can't We Talk It Over." He wrote scores for such films as "Around the World in 80 Days," "Samson and Delilah," "For Whom the Bell Tolls," and "Lady in the Dark."

Eden Weathers Storm, Political Future Clouded

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden has weathered the immediate storm touched off in Britain by his military intervention in Egypt, but his prospects for long tenure in office remain clouded.

Speculation centered today on whether he will be able to continue as head of the Conservative party if the Egyptian affair results in fuel oil shortages this winter, stringent gasoline rationing and a tax-boosting budget in April.

Laborites stumped the country seeking grass roots support for their demand that "Eden must go."

Conservatives Close Ranks

But Conservatives, after a period of shock and confusion, clearly were closing ranks. Letters to rank-and-file party members revealed a rallying to Eden's standard.

A Conservative member of Parliament longerv recounted an incident that occurred while he was dining at his club:

"When I ventured to suggest—and in the mildest possible way—that Eden was not quite the equal of Pitt and Churchill some very nearly lynched me."

There have been some defections. Anthony Nutting resigned as minister of state for foreign affairs and Sir Edward Boyle as economic secretary to the treasury. But there were no resignations at the government's top level.

Two Factors Aid Eden

Before the British and French ordered a cease-fire in the Suez Canal zone about 20 Conservatives in the House of Commons were considering pulling out.

Eden was under pressure also from a few of his Cabinet ministers.

Two factors—establishment of the cease-fire and the continued threat of Russian armed moves in the Middle East—enabled him to keep control of the situation.

Suggestion Spurned By Eisenhower

MOSCOW, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Soviet government today accepted Switzerland's proposal that the Big Four powers and India hold a summit meeting to avert danger of World War III.

Moscow radio said Premier Niko-lai Bulganin sent a message to the Swiss government saying the Soviet Union is willing to participate in such a meeting because it "always is willing to settle outstanding problems peacefully."

Idea Rejected By Ike

President Eisenhower rejected the Swiss summit conference suggestion Saturday because the problems threatening world peace now are before the United Nations and he believes they should be settled there.

Prime Minister Nehru promptly accepted the Swiss invitation of Nov. 6 for India, the French expressed interest, and Prime Minister Eden has declared himself ready to "go anywhere and meet anybody" to help deal with problems besetting Europe and the Middle East.

Bulganin's Reply

Bulganin in his reply today said: "The Soviet government, convinced as they are of the necessity of settling all controversial questions between the heads of government of various states, takes a positive attitude toward the Swiss proposal concerning an immediate convocation in Switzerland of the heads of state of the U.S.A., France, Great Britain and the Soviet Union and the head of the Indian government, as a representative of the countries participating in the Bandung conference, and expresses its readiness to participate in this conference."

Eastern Cold Snap Broken

(By The Associated Press)

Warm air sweeping eastward across the nation Sunday tempered the early cold wave which had plunged temperatures to record lows in many areas.

Southerly winds spread considerable cloudiness across parts of the Middle Atlantic states, scattered light snow flurries were reported across the mountains of Pennsylvania and adjacent portions of New York and West Virginia.

Light snow was expected to expand into the Northeast, but milder weather was forecast there for Monday.

Skies cleared during the night across New England and the eastern Middle Atlantic states. The mercury sank to record low temperatures from Maine to Pennsylvania. Providence, R.I., reported 18; Wilkes-Barre, Pa., reported 18; Portland, Maine, broke its record with a reading of 11 degrees.

Portions of the southeast and northern Florida shivered in early morning freezing temperatures, but the record lows of Saturday morning were gone.

Mild air covered the western half of the country, and since Saturday the warmer weather had pushed eastward to the western slopes of the Appalachians. Rising temperatures were expected over the remaining Eastern Seaboard region Sunday night and Monday.

Buildings Blown Up

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 11 (AP)—Six British customs buildings were blown up today along the Ireland-Northern Ireland border. Police said no one was hurt.

A spokesman said: "We believe it to be the work of nationalist terrorists."

Proportion Of U.S. Males To Females Shows Drop

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Census Bureau estimated today that females now outnumber males in the United States by about 1,381,000.

The greatest age disparity is in the 25 and older age groups. Six years ago there were only 600,000 more females than males.

The census report said the ratio changed somewhere in the 1940s. The 1940 census showed 100.7 men for each 100 women. The decline in the proportion of the male population has been going on since 1910, when the ratio was 106 males for each 100 females.

Census said the sex ratio switch was due mainly to two factors: The mortality rate is higher for men, about 200,000 more deaths occurred among males than females for each of the last six years.

Peace Force Awaits Signal From Nasser

U.N. Soldiers Mark Time In Italy; Report Shooting Reported

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Shooting marred the cease-fire along the Suez Canal today. The commander of United Nations Middle East police troops said the force is ready to fly to Egypt as soon as President Nasser gives permission. Only provisional approval has been expressed thus far, with details to be worked out.

A dispatch from Port Said reported British-French forces respectively suffered three hours of fire from the Egyptian lines this morning, then blasted back with an hour-long barrage which restored quiet. No casualties were reported from the British-French side.

In faraway Communist China thousands of "volunteers" registered to help the Egyptians in the event Israeli, British and French forces do not withdraw.

Peiping Russia

The Peiping move was along the same line adopted by Soviet Russia—and labeled by Britain a propaganda stunt since the British and French have already agreed to pull out of Egypt and Israel has agreed to withdraw from the Sinai Desert. Israeli officials are still claiming rights to the disputed Gaza Strip.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, commander of the U. N. police force, said his soldiers would remain at staging camps near Naples, Italy, until Nasser gives them the green light. Asked at a news conference in Tel Aviv if there had been any snags in the negotiations with Nasser, Gen. Burns replied:

"I do not believe anything—any snags—that cannot be cleared up."

Cairo radio said tonight talks between Egypt and the U. N. over the "composition, duties and posts" of the international police force are still going on.

Israelis Race Clock

Soldiers from the 17 nations who are going to keep peace in the Middle East in the name of the U. N. began criss-crossing the world on their way to join the advance group of Norwegians and Danes in the Mediterranean base.

The Egyptian Embassy in Moscow said Soviet "volunteers" were still pouring in to offer their services. Some Westerners in Moscow, however, were beginning to get the idea that the Russians might perhaps have it in their minds to use the "volunteers" in other Arab nations, rather than Egypt.

In the vast wastes of the Sinai Peninsula, Israeli troops raced against the clock to clear out captured Egyptian equipment—much of it identified as Russian and Czechoslovakian. They want to get the booty back behind the Israeli frontier before taking out their soldiers to make way for U. N. forces.

Fears Of Korea Outbreak Fade

TOKYO, Monday, Nov. 12 (AP)—Tension over the possibility of new fighting in Korea has faded, U. S. officials here and in Seoul said today.

"During the past week, we felt things building up to where there might have been some worry, but now it has all died down," an informed U. S. official said in Seoul. U. S. military officials said there was nothing out of the ordinary but emphasized their troops were as watchful as ever in Korea to the danger of Communist attack.

A combination of events in Hungary, the Middle East and Korea itself fired the momentary tension.

South Korean Wednesday leaves were reports of Communist troop movements toward the east-central front. Reports of a clash between North and South Korean troops were denied, however.

Communist MIGs Wednesday shot down a South Korean plane. The Allies later admitted it strayed accidentally into North Korea. A U. S. official reported tension in Seoul calmed noticeably after a session of the joint Allied-Armistice Commission at Panmunjom Saturday aired the plan incident.

Hungarians, Cold And Near Starvation, Still Refuse To Collaborate With Soviet

Many Russians Volunteer For Egyptian Army

Editors Note—The following story was received from Budapest today. It is a joint effort of Endre Marton, the Associated Press correspondent in Budapest, Russell Jones of the United Press and Ronald Farquhar of Reuters.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 11 (AP)—Hungarian nationalists continued their fight for freedom against overwhelming Soviet forces today as the Moscow puppet premier, Janos Kadar, met with Imre Nagy, the premier deposed by the Red army last Sunday, in a desperate attempt to gain popular support.

Resistance fighters in Dunapentele, formerly Stalinvaros, beat off massive attacks by Soviet armor. Infantry threatened to blow up the huge iron and steel complex as a last resort.

In Pecs, near the Yugoslav border, uranium miners and factory workers fought on despite a Soviet ultimatum to surrender or be annihilated. In the Budapest suburb of Ujpest, other nationalists still held out despite heavy shelling and continuous attacks by Soviet forces.

Nationalists in Ujpest have some artillery. The Russian tanks have completely destroyed two rows of small family houses of workers flanking a street in this industrial district.

But in the ravaged Hungarian capital itself, where Kadar met with Nagy and former State Minister Geza Losonczy, fighting went on only on Csepel Island.

Csepel is the site of the country's greatest industrial complex. According to reports, nationalist workers entrenched in one of the big factories on Csepel set 14 Russian tanks afire on Saturday by flooding them with oil and gasoline by hoses.

Nothing was known of the Nagy-Kadar talks, except that they started. But Kadar, in a radio speech at 10 a.m. today, left no doubt that as of today, Nagy was unwilling to cooperate with the present government, branded by the man in the street as "having returned riding on a Russian tank."

Kadar said in his speech that Nagy's weaknesses were a "grave political sin, having opened the way for counterrevolutionaries, though this was certainly not his—Nagy's intention."

Despite the end of the bloodshed in Budapest proper after more than five days of bitter resistance by the nationalists, the citizens of the Hungarian capital were still unbeaten. Cold, near starvation, with no hope of outside help, they still refused to collaborate with Kadar or his Moscow backers.

Only emergency food shops were open. Factory furnaces were cold and the economic life of the capital had come to a full stop.

The desperate struggle was carried on by men armed with little but their courage and with no hope of help from the outside world. They killed when they could and died when they had to. No quarter was asked or given.

Overpowered by masses of armor, outgunned by the latest and heaviest artillery, outnumbered by 10 to 1, the Hungarians had only their knowledge of the old city streets to aid them.

On Friday night, the latest ultimatum issued by the commander of the Soviet troops expired.

It said all Hungarian patriots would be shot on the spot if they did not surrender; once. But today men were still ignoring it and dying in combat for freedom.

Resistance was pitiful. Every shot from a sniper—and there were but a few snipers left—brought an all-out barrage from concentrations of tanks, guns and automatic weapons.

The wiping out of one rifleman might, and frequently did, mean the destruction of an entire apartment house or office building and the death of scores of persons.

Street scenes, in almost any section of Budapest, are indescribable. In the World War II experiences of these correspondents, none has seen anything worse than the deliberate, wanton and vicious destruction.

There has been no official report on the death toll since the attack was launched seven days ago, but some estimates run as high as 20,000 Hungarian dead.

One call to the central morgue for the removal of a dead man brought the answer that the morgue had 12,000 bodies from the previous day. The call was made Thursday.

The only white flag seen by the correspondents in this city was a flag hung out last week by a detachment of the AVH secret police. They surrendered to their enraged countrymen in the few days of freedom before the second Soviet onslaught.

Of all the thousands of red, white and green Hungarian flags flying, not one still has the Russian-pattern coat of arms imposed by the hated Communist regime. Most now have a black ribbon of mourning.

Cardinal Spellman Will Receive Degree

Salk Vaccine Successful In State, Figures Show

EMMITSBURG, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman will receive an honorary doctor-of-laws Friday from Mount St. Mary's College in a special convocation unique in the 149-year history of the college.

Cardinal Spellman, who is archbishop of New York and military vicar for the United States armed forces, will be given the degree in ceremonies planned for 10:30 a.m.

Four Mount St. Mary's men served as episcopal leaders of the New York archdiocese between 1826 and 1902.

John Dubois, who founded the college in 1808, was named the third bishop of New York in 1826. John Hughes, who later founded Fordham University, succeeded him, and later became the first archbishop of New York.

Cardinal John McCloskey and Archbishop Michael A. Corrigan were the two other Mount St. Mary's men who rose to head the New York archdiocese.

Thieves Loot Mansion Of $30,825 In Jewels

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Thieves looted a fashionable five-story home on the East Side of jewelry valued at $30,825 in a weekend robbery, police said today.

The robbery occurred while Thomas B. Hess, 36, editor of an art magazine, and his family were spending the weekend at their Port Chester, N.Y., home.

Ohioan's Trial Set In Holdup Of Train

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 11 (AP)—A 30-year-old Ohioan will be tried in February on armed robbery charges in the brazen holdup of a passenger train seven years ago.

Luman C. Ramsdell pleaded innocent to the State charges yesterday. He was released in $1,000 bond.

Ramsdell, who is 30, and 27-year-old George L. Ashton were sentenced in May 1949 to 20 years in prison by a Federal Court on charges of interfering with interstate commerce by stopping the train and robbing two passengers.

Following his parole five months ago, Ramsdell waived extradition and was returned here to face the State charges. Judge D. H. Rodgers said yesterday the State and federal charges covered separate acts.

The judge denied two motions for dismissal of the State charges.

Ramsdell and Ashton were aboard an express Washington-to-Detroit train on March 9, 1949. Near here, they pulled guns and began robbing passengers. They stopped the train one mile north of here and fled.

Gamal Abdel Nasser by military force. This is what they see:

1. The joint declaration made by the United States, Britain and France in 1950 to maintain the balance of power and oppose any aggression in the area is a dead letter. It had helped to keep the hostile relationship between Israel and the Arab states from breaking into open war for six years.
2. Diplomatic relations severed in the area are in a chaotic state. Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia have broken relations with Britain and France. Jordan and Iraq have broken relations with France and Egypt has broken with Australia. Russia has recalled its ambassador from Israel.
3. The Baghdad Pact, once hailed as a stout barrier against the threat of Soviet aggression, has been badly, perhaps fatally, shaken. Iraq, an anchor country in this alliance, has served notice it will not engage in any meeting of the pact members at which Britain is present. The other members are Turkey, Pakistan and Iran.
4. Jordan, with the troops of other Arab countries on its territory as a result of the war fears of the last two weeks, has spoken of reviewing its treaty with Britain. British influence in Jordan has long been the stabilizing factor in Jordan's relations with Israel.

When someone's counting on you...
you can count on life insurance

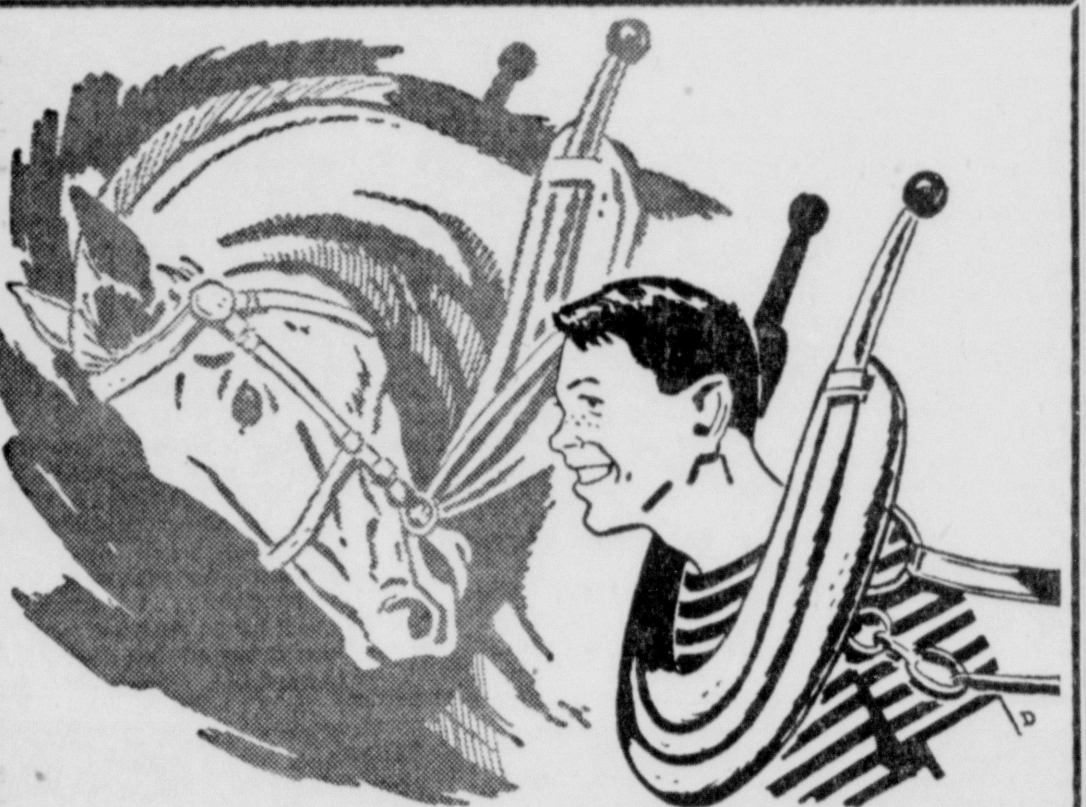

Do you know, for example, that many people use life insurance to provide a regular income over a period of years . . . even for a lifetime? This year alone, such income payments by life insurance companies will be about $800 million.

Most of these payments will go to dependents . . . helping to replace the father's paychecks. Others will go to policyholders themselves . . . increasing their incomes during retirement. In both cases, it's money they can count on.

Your present policies may offer such income plans. The best person to explain how they work is your own life insurance agent.

You will also find helpful suggestions in the new booklet, Your Life Insurance—and How To Use It, which we have prepared as a service for America's policyholders. Your free copy will be mailed promptly; simply send your name and address on a postcard to Dept. C.

How Do You Harness BOYPOWER?

You don't even try. As anyone who's lived with a normal, healthy youngster can tell you, the boundless energy of an American boy (or girl) can't be harnessed mechanically . . . can't be measured in kilowatts or amperes.

But it can be channeled and directed, nurtured and trained. And that's what 1½ million teachers are doing daily in the nation's 995,000 classrooms.

They're transforming raw "boypower" into trained manpower . . . an asset we measure in terms of scientists and engineers, auto workers and nurses, housewives and mechanics. Have you ever watched them do it first hand? If not, visit your school this week. You'll be glad you did because you'll see one of America's most spectacular dramas taking shape right before your eyes.

OLDTOWN — National Education Week will be observed in the Oldtown School throughout this week. The theme for Education Week this year is "Schools for A Strong America."

On Wednesday afternoon from 12:45 until 3:15 p. m. parents are invited to visit classrooms and view the children at work.

A program is planned to be held in the auditorium at 2 p. m. with Miss High's sixth grade pupils in charge. A short play, "Jeff Learns The Hard Way," will be given by the following cast: Norma Grimm, Judy Walters, Lester Powell, Russell Hose, Janet Ritchie and Gordon Deffinghough. Ushers for the afternoon are: Paulette Bishop, Joyce Platt, Paul Avela, Scott Dixon, Howard Allen and Josephine Platt.

The planning committee for the week is composed of Miss Kathleen High, Mrs. Esther Scribner, Mrs. Gray Atkey, Mrs. Phyllis Myers, Mr. J. Warren Maclay, and Mr. Elmer E. Durr.

Tucker County Fair Association Lists Committees

PARSONS — A meeting of the Tucker County Fair Association was held recently in the Court House. J. Kenton Lambert, president, appointed a nominating committee composed of Miss Martha Bomberger, chairman, Gordon Shrader, Mrs. William R. Barrick and Mrs. J. Blaine Corrick to select officers for the coming year.

The committee will report at the next meeting of the association on Monday, November 26.

Earl Corcoran was named chairman of a concessions committee and other members are M. D. Collision, William R. Barrick and J. Kenton Lambert.

The group agreed to deposit $650 in savings accounts in each of the four county banks.

The church organist, Mrs. Cecil

Central Elementary Lists Education Week Activities

LONACONING — Central Elementary School will be observing National Education Week, November 12 to November 17, by a host of activities during the week.

Today, Veterans Day, will be observed by all students marching to the Soldiers Monument and World War II Memorial at the First Presbyterian church, yard at 10:45 a. m.

A memorial wreath, purchased by the elementary pupils, will be placed at the monument and a program will be held. The sixth grade of Mrs. Verna M. Terent's class room will sing the "Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Terent's room and Calvin James' sixth grade room will sing "The Star Spangled Banner." The wreath will be placed and then the parade will take place back to Central School.

On Tuesday afternoon, the fifth and sixth graders will attend the Latin-American opera in three acts, "Marianne," at Valley High School auditorium, presented by the Music Department on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

"Visitors Day" will be Thursday, November 15, for the parents to see their sons and daughters "in action" in the classroom and to have the opportunity to query.

A special program at 1:30 p. m. will be presented Thursday in the auditorium. The fifth and sixth graders will present a variety program of readings, dramatics and music.

Miss Betty Flake, elementary school supervisor of Allegany County, Board of Education office, Cumberland, will be guest at the November 20 meeting of Central Parent-Teacher Association.

Bruce High Plans Education Week Assembly

WESTERNPORT — An assembly will be held Wednesday at Bruce High School at 2 p. m. in observance of American Education Week.

Hugh M. O'Rourke, administrative assistant in special projects at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Luke, who has written "The History of Georges Creek," will speak to the students on that subject.

Rev. B. M. Flory, minister of Church of the Brethren, will deliver the invocation and speak briefly. Also included in the program will be selections by the school orchestra and vocal groups.

The high school is distributing admission certificates to parents. These are available at the visitation period which precedes the program in the auditorium on Thursday evening, November 15. The certificates may be used in lieu of admission at any one paid function sponsored by the school during the current term. They are not valid, however, for alumni events, graduation activities, or programs and functions sponsored by "outside" organizations.

The main theme for the entire week, November 11-17, is "Schools For A Strong America."

Student Teachers Discuss Welfare

FROSTBURG — Robert Y. Dubel, assistant executive secretary of the Maryland Teacher's Association, Baltimore, was speaker this past week at the weekly meeting of junior high student teachers of State Teachers College.

Dubel discussed the legislative program of the Maryland teachers association as planned for a five year study. He gave detailed reports on the retirement system for the teachers of Maryland and also outlined what is being done to advance the teacher salary schedule. An open discussion gave many of the future teachers an opportunity to receive information pertaining to the profession.

John M. Dunn and Robert V. Jones were in charge of the conference. Mrs. Charles L. Kopp, Dean Ivan C. Diehl and practice teachers in the elementary field were guests of the conference.

Garrett Teachers Association Plans Annual Banquet

GRANTSVILLE — Garrett County Teachers Association will hold its annual banquet at Southern High School November 15 at 7 p. m. Completed plans were outlined a recent Fall meeting of the organization.

Robert Rodeheaver, president noted that a number of reports were received at the meeting. Merle Frantz, delegate, reported on the convention of the Maryland PTA Congress in Baltimore. Miss Viola Broadwater reported on the Leadership Training Camp, held at Camp Louise, Cascade, Md., and Albert Ringer reported on a group insurance plan.

Committee chairmen who made reports include Ralph Beachley, legislative; Miss Kathryn Speicher, welfare; Mrs. Foster Eitel, public relations; Mrs. Bessie Price, membership; Miss Eustard Gmel and Mrs. Vera Mussard, IMPA; Mrs. Eva Ream, nominating; and Mrs. Hildred Mulvey, auditing.

Monarch Mills Expansion Is Progressing

PETERSBURG — Work on the new building to house Monarch Mills, Petersburg's largest wholesale and retail merchandisers of feed, farmers' supplies, hardware and building materials, is progressing, it was announced today by Mr. R. Heber Alt, president and chairman of the board.

The new building, occupying approximately 27,000 square feet of floor space, will be erected on a four-acre site along a railroad siding in South Petersburg with frontage on U. S. Route 220.

This modern structure designed by Joseph Guillozet, Cleveland, will actually be a self-service, supermarket-type unit. The retail store which includes 4,000 square feet of space will have fixtures, counters and lighting especially designed for customer convenience, according to Roswell H. Alt, vice president and general manager, of Monarch Mills.

The warehouse, occupying more than 20,000 square feet of floor space with 20-foot headroom, has many new features including loading docks.

Monarch Mills, presently carrying the largest stock of building materials, lumber, hardware, feeds and farm supplies of any company in the South Branch Valley, was founded in 1939 by H. A. Alt, R. H. Alt, T. R. Alt and M. H. Roby and incorporated in 1956. In addition to R. Heber Alt, president, and Roswell H. Alt, vice president, other officers include Thomas B. Andrick, vice president and poultry manager; Marshall C. Combs, vice president and assistant general manager; Mrs. Helen M. Sites, secretary and Mrs. Edith VanMeter, assistant secretary. Don R. Kite, chief sales clerk and Vivian Kile, warehouse manager. Monarch Mills also owns and operates an experimental poultry farm with Otha Bible as farm manager complete with chicken hatchery and breeding operation and does a large contract business in feeds for chickens and turkeys.

The land for the new site in South Petersburg was acquired from the Harry and Charles A. Smith heirs and as soon as the new building is completed, the entire operation will move from its present location on Tank Street here.

Farrady Auxiliary Will Meet Tonight

FROSTBURG — The American Legion Auxiliary of Farrady Post No. 24, will meet today at 8 p. m. in the legion home with Mrs. Angela Jackson, president, presiding. Mrs. Jackson urges that all members attend as reports of committees will be given. Report on membership will be brought up to date in order that a full report may be given at the presidents' conference in Baltimore, November 17 and 18.

Two Men Fined On Gun Charge

KEYSER — Two men were arrested and charged with having uncased guns in their car, by Claude E. Rice, Va. Conservation officer Friday at 11:10 p. m. The men, Haven Burgess, 27, Baltimore, and Raymond Rotruck, 32, Martin, Va., were taken before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, Saturday morning where they pleaded guilty. Each was fined $20 and costs of $5.

Homemakers Club Elect Thursday

MT. SAVAGE — A vice president and secretary will be elected at the Homemakers meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in St. George's Hall.

The committee in charge for the evening includes Mrs. William Williams, Mrs. Howard Huff, and Mrs. Bernard Coberly.

Gas Production Shows Decline In Garrett Co.

30 Producing Wells Are Listed

OAKLAND — Natural gas production in the Mt. Lake Park, Gortner, Red House and Accident areas over a three-month period ending September 30 has shown a slight decrease for the second consecutive report, but the total amount continued to remain far above some of the reports of the past three or four years.

The number of cubic feet produced in the 90-day period totaled 842,774,000 with the marketable gas valued at $206,822.32.

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company sent a check for $14,477.57 as the county's total from the seven per cent tax on the marketable gas. This was $631.13 less than for the previous period but is still one of the high ones of the entire period.

The breakdown of this latest tax showed $5,791.03 as the purchaser's proportion (2.8 per cent) and $8,686.54 as the producer's proportion (4.2 per cent).

Production from the 30 producing wells during the months of July, August and September totaled over nine and one quarter million cubic feet per day with the B. Miller well being responsible for more than four million cubic feet per day. Another Miller well, located in the Red House area, showed production of almost 100 million cubic feet, while the Collier well showed 113,000,000, the Arnold well at Red House over 65 million, the N. K. Welch well over 22 million, the Swartztruber well over 19 million, the Ford-Fike well over 20 million, and the James Hamilton well over 31 million.

The market value of $206,822.32 compared favorably with the previous period.

Mt. Lake Park will receive a portion of the tax through the County Commissioners from gas produced within the corporate limits of the town.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the commissioners in July of 1951, the county's governing body has received $216,356.92 which has been used to help pay off the school bond indebtedness. Any amount in excess of $50,000 during any one year will go toward the expenses of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. H. D. Swartztruber, president of the County Commissioners, said he was still confident that this year's total for the four quarters would exceed that amount.

Need Blood Donors At Grantsville

GRANTSVILLE — The bloodmobile will be here Wednesday, with the collection center established in the Evangelical and Reformed Church from noon until 6 p. m.

Miss Lillian Swager will serve as chairman. Volunteer donors are needed to help meet the local quota.

Announce Birth

KEYSER — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Erickson, Hartford, Conn., announce the birth of a daughter, Johanna Lynn, on Friday, October 26. The baby was born with four lower teeth already through and she is now cutting a fifth one. Mrs. Erickson is the former Miss Barbara MacDonald, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John MacDonald, Third Street, Keyser.

Plan Turkey Supper

DEATHS AND FUNERAL NOTICES

Child Victim Of Leukemia

Roger Leroy Northcraft, three and one half year old leukemia victim, who put up a three months fight against the dread disease, died Saturday in Memorial Hospital.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Northcraft, 403 Arch Street, were unaware of his condition until a local physician discovered that he was suffering from the incurable cancer of the blood. In recent weeks, he spent much time in Memorial Hospital, receiving numerous blood transfusions.

While in the hospital, his nurses asked the public to send their little patient cards, comics and pictures and the Cumberland area opened its heart and complied with their request.

He is survived by his parents, Clarence and Betty Jean (Mullin) Northcraft; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Northcraft, 255 E. Elder Street; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Mullin, Hanover, Pa., and one brother, Richard Allen Northcraft, at home.

The body will remain at the George Funeral Home.

A service will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the funeral home by Rev. Russel E. Fink, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church. Burial will be in Zion Memorial Park.

Ten Slated To Go Postward In International Today

Dedicate 5-2 Favorite In Laurel Race

Seven Countries Are Represented; 30,000 To Witness Classic

By JOHN CHANDLER
LAUREL, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—Ten horses representing seven countries completed their training chores this morning for the fifth running of the world famous Washington, D. C. International at Laurel Park. The $100,000 invitational classic over the mile and one half grass course will be staged tomorrow with Dedicate, one of three United States contenders, the probable favorite.

A fashionable Veterans Day crowd of some 30,000 including high government officials from nearby Washington, cabinet members, congressmen, and delegations from many foreign embassies, will be on hand for the colorful show.

Dedicate Is Favorite
Dedicate is owned by Mrs. Jan Burke of New York and Miami, and the winner of the Brooklyn Whitney and the Hawthorne Gold Cup is the early 5-2 choice with Fill Boland in the saddle.

Two years ago the Queen of England sent a horse to race in the International, and last year the President of Ireland was represented. Tomorrow another famous name, Sir Winston Churchill, will have a starter—the French-bred Le Pretendant.

The main foreign threat, however, in this global gallop for first money of $70,000, appears to be Master Boing, owned by Andre Lombard of France. No less an expert than Eddie Arcaro tabs Master Boing as the foreign colt to beat. Arcaro rode Career Boy in the Prix l'Arc de Triomphe at Paris last month, and finished fourth, with Master Boing fifth by a head.

Arcaro To Ride
Career Boy was invited to the Laurel International, but withdrew due to an injury, and Fisherman was substituted. Both are owned by C. V. Whitney of New York. Fisherman won the International two years ago with Arcaro—his rider tomorrow—in the driver's seat.

Master Boing is joint second choice at 4-1 with Mister Gus, who finished fifth last year. Guy Chancelier, a leading French jockey, rides Master Boing, while Ismael Valenzuela pilots Mister Gus.

The collection of equine stars also presents an international mix-up.
Others In Field
Others in the field are By Thunder 2nd, an English horse, owned by Jack Gerber of South Africa; Chantclair, Swedish 3-year-old, owned by Knut Laurin, Stockholm; Hindu Wand, an Irish-bred, representing Canada, and owned by Max Bell, Calgary, Alta.; Prince Cortauld, bred in New Zealand, but one of Australia's greatest horses, now owned by Forest G. Smith Jr., Los Angeles; and Vaquero 2nd, from Ireland, but owned by Dr. Jose Herrera, Caracas, Venezuela.
Post time for the walk-up start is set for approximately 4:20 p.m. EST.

"BUDDY" RICE Gets First Hole-In-One At Maplehurst Club

Melvin "Buddy" Rice, professional, holds the distinction of being the first golfer to score a hole-in-one at the Maplehurst Country Club at Frostburg.

"Buddy" achieved the feat yesterday by scoring an ace on the 164-yard 7th hole with a six iron. Rice's drive landed on the green 12 feet from the pin, rolled and dropped into the cup to the amazement of "Buddy" and the three other members of the foursome, namely, Dr. Frank Leger, Tom Gracie and Bill Prichard.

Rice has been playing golf for about thirty years on many courses but yesterday was the first time he ever had registered a hole-in-one.

The Maplehurst 9-hole course was opened this year and Rice has served as pro since the start of the season.

Giants Add Fox To Scouting Staff

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—The New York Giants today added Charley Fox to their list of scouts. He was assigned to the Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia territories.

Fox was the player-manager of St. Cloud, Minn., a Giants' farm club in the Northern League, last season.

Farm director Carl Hubbell also announced the shifting of territories of three other scouts. Willard Marshall was assigned to New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Washington, D.C. and Richmond, Va.; Tony Ravish to New England and upstate New York and Nick Shinkoff to Florida and South Georgia.

2,221 Athletes Of 41 Nations Arrive For Olympics

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Rev. Bob Richards, pole vault and decathlon star, conducted worship services for United States Olympic forces today as a quiet Sabbath punctuated the growing tensions of Olympic games.

The ordained minister, who will be competing in his third Olympics, spoke on the subject of peace before most of the 247 U. S. athletes already on hand for the mammoth sports spectacle.

Carr Beats Diaz

HAVANA, Nov. 10 (AP)—Louis Carr, 143 1/2, of the United States, won a 10-round decision over Cuban welterweight champion Miguel (La Diabla) Diaz, 146 in a fierce fight at the Sports Palace last night.

Fights This Week

TONIGHT—Randy Sandy, New York, vs. John L. Sullivan, of England, at St. Nicholas Arena, New York City. Telecast by ABC at 10 p.m. EST.
TONIGHT—Larry Boardman vs. Paddy DeMarco at Philadelphia.
TUESDAY—Kid Gavilan, Cuba, vs. Chico Vejar, Stamford, Conn., at Los Angeles.

THURSDAY—Joey Giardello vs. Charley Cotton at Milwaukee.
FRIDAY—Bob Baker, Pittsburgh, vs. Harold Carter, Linden, N. J., at Madison Square Garden, New York. Broadcast and telecast by NBC at 10 p.m. EST.

Rafer Johnson, towering decathlon hope from Kingsbury, Calif., and Jim Graham, pole vaulter from Tulsa, Okla., gave prayer at the solemn service.

The arrival today of rowing personnel, the water polo team and the muscled weightlifters completed half of the United States contingent. The remainder is expected here by Nov. 15.

The Olympic village swarmed with sightseers and autograph hounds. They elbowed up to the tall wire fences for a glimpse of the casually dressed athletes wandering along the sidewalks.

Ballarat Rowing Site

The American rowers who arrived on an early morning plane visited the village and had lunch with the rest of the Americans. Then they left for Ballarat, a small goldmining community 70 miles north of Melbourne, where the oarpulling competition will be held.

Clifford (Tippy) Goes, chairman of the Olympic Rowing Committee, predicted the Yale University eight would maintain Yankee supremacy in the heavyweight class and said the United States was likely to win at least three more gold medals with the four oar crew without coxswain and the two oar crews especially strong.

A total of 2,221 athletes are in the village with 41 flags raised.

Six Have Withdrawn

The withdrawal of Lebanon yesterday in protest against English action in the Suez hardly created a ripple. This withdrawal makes a total of six, the others being Holland, Spain, Communist China, Egypt and Iraq. Switzerland changed its mind about pulling out.

The flags at the village were raised today for Pakistan, Norway, Denmark, the Philippines and Czechoslovakia in weather that alternated between bright sunshine, rain and blustery cold.

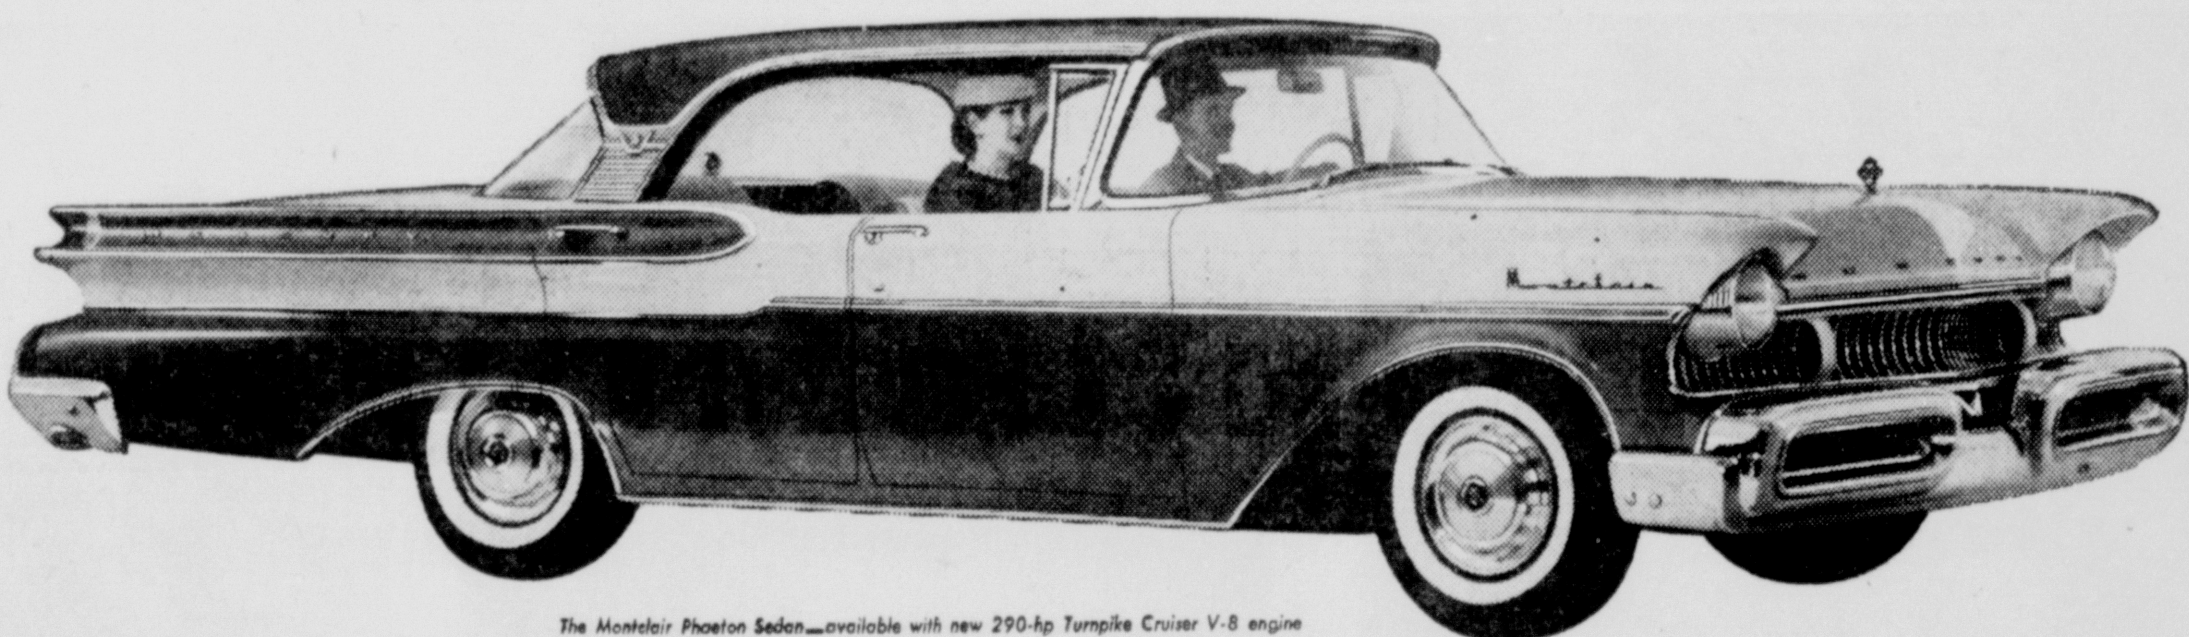

Denmark has been the scene of more wars than any other country.

Family Day Aboard A Carrier

Order of the day was slacks and sunglasses as wives and sweethearts of the Tarawa's crewmembers swarm over the deck at Quonset Point, R.I. The giant carrier that took them to sea for the day towers over the couples.

An old superstition among seafarers has it that women aboard ships of war are bad luck. If there is any truth to it, the aircraft carrier Tarawa, based at Quonset Point, R.I., flirted with fate hundreds of times recently and came away unscathed.

The 27,000-ton vessel departed from her usual weekday efforts of anti-submarine warfare exercises to welcome aboard 501 parents and wives of crew members for a day's cruise on the open waters of the Atlantic.

Capt. John P. Rembert Jr., Tarawa skipper, explained the purpose of the junket: "We want to show the families of Tarawa crew members what their men do in their jobs." He told the guests to poke about to their hearts' content, and added, "If you have any questions, ask your husband. If he can't answer it, ask somebody else's husband."

The families were treated to plenty of surprises during their short stay on the ship. They witnessed catapult and carrier landings and rocket and bombing runs by flight crews of Anti-submarine Squadron 32 flying S2F-1 Sentinels. It left them all goggle-eyed.

Disembarking at Quonset the ladies carried away souvenirs of wind and sunburned faces that no amount of powder would cover.

Bos'n's chair brings fair visitor back from trip to nearby destroyer.

Plane flights kept the couples ever looking skywards.

A naval encircling movement — and she's safe!

A chilling wind blows across the deck and a couple hustles along to keep warm.

Couples found plenty of space on the carrier's flight deck to stroll and stop for a close look at the planes.

A lowering sun silhouettes a sailor and his wife.

Does The Kremlin Really Want War?

The people of Hungary, now undergoing another bloody "liberation," Russian style, are well qualified to comment on the Soviet proposal to send Russian troops into Egypt to halt aggression there. The record shows that there are only three countries into which Soviet troops have marched since 1939 that are wholly independent today. And those three — Finland, Iran, and Austria—have had to pay a price in addition to suffering costly occupation.

The Russian proposal was made in several forms. First came a letter from Premier Bulganin, proposing to President Eisenhower that Russia and the United States send forces jointly into Egypt. President Eisenhower rejected that as "unthinkable," and warned in strong terms that the United States would consider it its duty to "oppose" any such move. No forces should be sent into the Middle East, he said, except under United Nations mandate.

But it is ominous that Russia continues to talk about Soviet troops in the Middle East. In notes to Britain and France, she made the veiled threat that they might face "some stronger power" if they did not pull out of Egypt. She threatened Israel, too, more bluntly. And Bulganin's note to Eisenhower spoke warningly of the danger of World War III starting in the Middle East.

All this looks like bluff and propaganda. But the invasion of Hungary suggests that a new regime may have gained control in the Kremlin and is reversing the Khrushchev policy of smiles and subversion without war. Russia is talking of fighting Britain, France, and Israel — even though she speaks of getting U.N. approval and American help, both of which, as she well knows, will not be forthcoming. If that is how her thinking runs, she is surely toying with the idea of World War III.

Her attitude underlines the wisdom of Canadian Foreign Minister Pearson, whose proposal for a U. N. force to maintain peace in Egypt specifically excluded the great powers. With Canada herself, three Scandinavian powers, and others already offering forces, the idea may work out in the end.

But Russia obviously doesn't want permanent solutions there until she can impose her own. The ominous question is how far she is willing to go to prevent them.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

John Foster Dulles

The illness of John Foster Dulles might mean that he will not long remain in the Eisenhower cabinet as secretary of state. Dulles is 68 years old and during the past four years, he has not spared himself at all nor has he been spared by his critics.

To go through four years more of that seems pretty close to impossible for a man who has undergone an operation for cancer. Although it is said that Dulles should be back on the job in six weeks, no one actually ever knows how long a convalescence takes or what the side effects of an illness can be.

At present the acting secretary of state is Herbert Hoover Jr., and already attacks are being made upon him which are unrelated to his functions or abilities. For instance, Senator Kefauver said in St. Paul that members of the Hoover family are interested in Arabian oil which the elder Mr. Hoover denounced as a lie which, of course, it is. The ex-President rarely gets mad enough at human foibles, which are to be expected, but he dislikes liars although he has long been accustomed to their existence. However, should it become increasingly evident that John Foster Dulles will not or even may not return to his job in the State Department, the competition among President Eisenhower's friends for this prime appointment will become tense and even unpleasant.

Also there are numerous special interest groups that would like one of their own number appointed so that their peculiarities might become the policy of the nation. Fortunately, a secretary of state has to be confirmed by the Senate and there are some who could never be confirmed because of their idiosyncrasies. Also there would be a hearing and some men could not take the grind of a Senate committee hearing even in executive session.

The man who is most likely to be asked to succeed Dulles is Thomas E. Dewey, former governor of New York State and the man most responsible for the selection of Dwight D. Eisenhower as Republican candidate for the presidency in 1952. Dewey has been regarded by Taft Republicans as responsible for depriving Robert A. Taft of the nomination and as Taft died shortly afterwards, there have been unpleasant overtones.

On the other hand, since Thomas E. Dewey has ceased to be a public official, he has become a more palatable person even to the Taft Republicans, particularly in comparison with some who now proclaim themselves to be Republican. His support of Richard Nixon during Harold Stassen's unfortunate demarche on the Vice President took much of the sting out of Dewey's former maneuvers. At any rate, he would, generally speaking, not be regarded unfavorably by any segment of the Republican party were the President to appoint Dewey as successor to John Foster Dulles, should Dulles be unable to serve much longer or should Herbert Hoover Jr. not be considered.

John Foster Dulles will go down in history with a much better reputation than he has today among his contemporaries. His has been a superhuman task, for he inherited an accumulation of two decades of policies that had failed to work out as anticipated, but which could not altogether be changed because they had become part of the international structure.

Historic events do not wait upon American elections and changes in office. They occur when they occur, just as Israel moved on Egypt and the British and the French on the Suez Canal one week before our election. It created a fearfully difficult time for both candidates, but the course of events ignored them and went their bloody way in the Near East and in Hungary.

Ike's Victory Discussed As Personal Triumph

WASHINGTON

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

If ever there was a purely personal triumph, it is the triumph which Dwight D. Eisenhower has just enjoyed. For the Democratic victories in both houses clearly indicate that the President won against a Democratic tide which has been running strongly since 1952. It is a neat trick to win at all against the tide. It is downright miraculous to win by a landslide.

It is highly significant, moreover, that the miracle, to the extent that miracles can be planned, was carefully planned by the President himself. Among his associates he never made any bones about the fact that he not only intended to win but that he intended to win by a greater majority than in 1952.

Eagerly Agreed

That was the meaning of his decision (which had to be modified because of the foreign crisis) to make a final, major campaign swing through the South. The President was quite aware that a southern swing would elect no Republican senators and few if any representatives. He never had any doubts whatsoever that he himself would win, and if electing a Republican Congress had been his over-riding concern, he might have devoted his final campaign efforts to helping such threatened and now defeated Republicans as Duff of Pennsylvania, Bender of Ohio or Welker of Idaho.

But as the campaign reached its climax, the political intelligence division of the Republican National Committee received a whole series of reports that the Eisenhower candidacy was going great guns in the South. When a southern swing to batten down these southern Eisenhower votes was therefore proposed to him by Republican Chairman Len Hall, the President resisted at first. But when it was pointed out to him that his best chance of bettering his 1952 record lay in the South, he eagerly agreed to Hall's proposal.

He was perfectly frank with his associates, moreover, about the reasons he was so anxious to increase his 1952 majority. One reason was that he wanted to be able to speak with absolute authority in conducting American foreign policy.

Reasoning Simple

He believed that, if he won by a reduced majority after a campaign in which his conduct of foreign policy was bitterly criticized, it might be thought abroad—and especially in the Kremlin—that he was not fully master in his own house. The President is absolutely convinced, moreover, that a time of great and convulsive change is coming for the Soviet Empire.

His reasoning is simple, and based on his own military experience. He has remarked to several intimates that he is glad he is not in his old friend Marshal Zhukov's shoes. Every military man knows, the President has said in effect, that a foreign army cannot indefinitely hold down a vast and rebellious population—and he is sure that Zhukov knows it too. The President believed that a smashing majority would greatly strengthen his hand in dealing with the dangers and opportunities of the time of great change which he foresees.

His second reason for wanting

Washington Was Panic-Stricken Over Russian Threat Of Force

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Here is the inside story of the greatest war scare Washington has witnessed since Pearl Harbor. It took place early last week following receipt of a blunt warning from Russia threatening to use force against England and France if they did not get out of Suez. This caused the following chain reaction:

1. All U. S. atomic bomber units were put on the alert.
2. Warships were dispersed so as not to be targets for another Pearl Harbor.
3. Amphibian training maneuvers off the Southern Atlantic coast were canceled and the airplane carriers Forrestal, Saratoga, and other key ships were prepared for action.
4. An emergency meeting called at the White House worked late into Monday night trying to decide whether Russia was serious about its threat to use force, including rockets, against England, to halt war in the Near East.

Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., was the most worried of all. He had reports that 150 out of 300 Russian divisions were on the ready-alert, that the borders of Poland had been sealed, that Russian troops were on the Iranian border, that four new Red army divisions had poured into Hungary, making a total of 100,000 Russian troops in that little country.

Extra troops were necessary because Red army units already inside Hungary had refused to fire on Hungarian rebels. First the Kremlin pulled four divisions out of Romania to enter Hungary, but when rebellion smoldered in Romania, they were rushed back, and four new divisions were sent direct from Russia.

American Jitters

American intelligence also reported that the Red army in Hungary was under the personal command of President Eisenhower's wartime friend, Marshal Zhukov, though he was under orders from the Kremlin. Those in control in the Kremlin appeared to be Anastas Mikoyan and a new figure, Mikhail Suslov, a member of the Soviet Presidium.

British intelligence also reported that they had destroyed a large number of Russian MIGs recently arrived in Egypt. One British report put the number at 35, another at 48. The British also reported they had sighted some Soviet Bisons on October 30, flying over Egypt. This is the huge new Russian jet bomber, equivalent to our B-52.

All this sent the jitters through top American leaders. Fears were expressed that, with the British and French busy at Suez, their home territories, virtually undefended, might be attacked.

At the emergency White House meeting, however, Allan Dulles, head of Central Intelligence and younger brother of John Dulles, calmed official fears. He reported that Russian policies in the satellite countries had backfired so disastrously that the Kremlin was trying to save face by waving the big stick in other areas. He argued, however, that Red army leaders were too realistic to start an atomic war.

French Would Hang Nasser

Other calming factors were also noted. It was found that the text of the Russian ultimatum to England and France was not as tough as the version aired over the Moscow radio. Assurances were also given by the Kremlin to U. S. diplomats in Moscow that Khrushchev and Bulganin was still in control and that their conciliatory anti-Stalin policies toward the West had not changed. Suslov also made a speech which, though rough on Hungary and the Near East, was considered moderate as far as the West was concerned.

While some of these factors, plus the calming words of Allan Dulles, eased the tense atmosphere of the White House emergency meeting, Dulles agreed that it would be safer if the British and French arranged a cease fire.

Accordingly urgent messages were rushed to Prime Minister Eden and Premier Mollet warning that the fate of Western civilization might rest upon their agreement to an immediate cease-fire. French reaction was negative. Mollet wasn't at all worried by the Russian threat. He branded it a big bluff. He was bitterly opposed to any calling off of the Egyptian war and wanted to march into Cairo and hang Nasser to a lamppost. Finally, however, he agreed to a cease-fire.

What worried Eden was that most of Britain's army, navy, and air force were in the Mediterranean, leaving the British Isles almost defenseless. Eden was fretting over what he should do when the message from Washington arrived. He immediately decided to call off the Egyptian war before the Russians were further tempted.

Most of the above events occurred either just before or on election day. Since then the Joint Chiefs of Staff have been meeting in Washington twice a day in order to evaluate the situation and keep the President informed. On the day after election, however, they did not brief the President. Jim Hagerty may deny it, but he was tired. He had been up late the night before.

Maybe high officials panicked too easily. But unquestionably Washington went through one of the most fantastic and alarming weeks in many years.

NOTE—Japan has warned that Red China may suddenly attack Hong Kong while British forces are tied up in the Near East. The Peiping radio has been broadcasting daily warnings that grave developments can be expected in the Far East. Red Chinese troops are reported maneuvering around the British crown colony.

Diplomatic Notes

Shortly after the British threat to invade the Suez, Eisenhower phoned Churchill and pleaded with his oldtime friend to stop Prime Minister Eden. Churchill, however, turned him down. He told the President that American appeasement of Dictator Nasser had been a great mistake and he would not interfere with Eden. However, Churchill explained that the British had not acted behind America's back. The Red army is reported almost hoping Polish anti-Communists will follow the lead of the Hungarians and start a revolution. Marshal Rokossovsky has vowed he will crush any rebellion with a ruthlessness that makes the Russian action against Hungary look like a Sunday picnic along the Volga. Three new Russian divisions from East Germany already have reinforced the Red army in Western Poland. They are battle-ready and anxious to move. Dictator Nasser has been recruiting German soldiers from Hitler's famed Afrika Korps. He hopes to form an Egyptian foreign legion of both ex-Nazis and Communist volunteers. On The Side

By E. V. Durling

PARIS — Am now all set, should the necessity arise, to stay in Paris on an easily balanced budget and still have a wonderful time. I have completely mastered the fine art of riding on the Paris subway. I went from the Place D'Etoile to Montparnasse on the underground. From there I went to the Montmartre and from that point back to the Place D'Etoile. I then completed my workout by a trip to Porte D'Auteuil. My progress was smooth throughout. It is all in the way you handle the route numbers and the map of the Metro. I am already adept at handling the Paris autobus system which has 52 different lines. I studied that last time I was here after I had been in a taxicab collision and was afraid for a period to trust my life to a Paris cab skipper.

ECONOMY

Among other aids to a fading bankroll with which I am now familiar is the location of several marvelous bistros where you can dine and have a lot of laughs at an amazingly low figure. I have also found a good French cigar. As for the horses, that is no financial problem at all. I have figured out how to have a day at the races for a maximum expenditure of $5, even if I lose my bet on every race. That includes transportation to and from the track, admission, program, a cup of coffee and a sandwich in the middle of the afternoon and wagering on seven races.

AFTER DARK

As for a bit of after dark enjoyment in Paris on a small budget, I have checked on that too. Last night we went and tripped a bit of light fantastic at the Mimi Pinson Dance Hall on the Champs Elysees. This is where the real ballroom dance enthusiasts of Paris is gathered. It has two excellent bands which alternate in playing. For a comparatively small amount you can have a few drinks and dance the night away at the Mimi Pinson. It is extremely interesting to note the enthusiasm with which the Parisians dance. Especially when they do the rock-and-roll.

HORSES AND WOMEN

On one of the bookstalls that line the left bank of the Seine, I saw displayed a volume titled L'Art D'Attraper les Hommes (The Art of Trapping Men) by Herve Lovick. A book on that subject by a Parisienne should be worth consideration. In the interests of our bachelorette clients, who are currently engaged in husband hunting, I have asked our horses and women department to find out if there is an English translation of this book.

RESTAURANTS

The most expensive restaurants in Paris are the Tour D'Argent and Maxim's. Cost of meal for one in those places runs from $10 to $12. L'Escargot, founded 150 years ago, is still popular with snail enthusiasts. Meal there runs to about $5. Best steak place in Paris is the Cochon D'Or. Check for one there is usually about $5. An interesting place is the Flamberge which has only six tables. Everything cooked to order and right before your eyes. You can dine well there for $4.50.

STROLLING

Passed by the Little Church of St. Lawrence one morning. This church is over 1400 years old. Also looked over the Passage L'Industrie. This is a tool market. It has a permanent exhibition of mechanical instruments. It caters to men who are handy around the house. That is, "Do it yourself" enthusiasts.

FOOD

As I told you previously, many Frenchmen have become great consumers of Scotch whisky. Many are also lovers of Italian food. There is an Italian restaurant in the Champs Elysees district that features pizza, spaghetti, etc., and it is jammed with Frenchmen from morn until night. Not only that, there is usually a line of people outside waiting to get in.

Sensible Eating Vital For Expectant Mother

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Eating sensibly and scientifically during pregnancy means a healthier and happier mother and baby. Worldwide comparisons have been made between the effects of good and bad nutrition during gestation. Poorly nourished women have more stillbirths or premature deliveries and smaller babies.

In addition, mothers-to-be who do not eat properly suffer four times as many colds and twice as many attacks of bronchitis, pneumonia, and anemia. Conversely, pregnant women who keep up their nutrition feel much better during the period and encounter less anxiety, restlessness, weakness, and headache. Furthermore, when the eating habits acquired during pregnancy are maintained, the entire family has fewer illnesses.

The basic diet during pregnancy is not difficult to follow. The daily essentials are:

Protein 85 gm.
Calories 2,500
Calcium 1.5 gm.
Iron 15gm.
Vitamin A 6,000 I. U.
Thiamin 1.8 mg.

Riboflavin 2.5 mg.
Nicotinic acid 18 mg.
Ascorbic acid 100 mg.
(vitamin C) 100 mg.
Vitamin D 400-800 I. U.

This may sound complicated but actually proteins supply most of these elements. The requirements will be met by consuming 85 grams or more of protein daily, in the form of meat, fish, poultry, eggs, milk, and cheese. Exceptions are vitamin C, which can be obtained in vitamin supplements or by adding citrus fruits such as oranges or grapefruit and fresh vegetables; and vitamin D, which can be taken in capsules.

This is how it works: The protein in an average helping of meat (3 to 4 ounces) is 20 to 25 grams; in one quart of milk, 33 grams; 1 egg, 6 grams; and 1 ounce cheese, 7 grams. The housewife can easily prepare meals that yield 85 grams of protein daily. Protein rich foods also supply minerals. A quart of milk, for example, contains 1.2 grams of calcium and most common foods have enough of this mineral to make up the total requirement.

What about calories and weight? High protein menus, with relatively few calories from carbohydrates and starches, will not cause excessive gains. A woman of normal weight should not put on more than 25 pounds during pregnancy.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Somebody is sure to write a book about the Ritz Hotel in Paris. It dates back to 1892, when the gay Prince of Wales (later King Edward VII) summoned Charles Ritz and told him, "I want a nice, secluded little hotel in Paris where I can steal off for occasional—er, relaxation. It must have English service, American plumbing, and French cooking!"

Ritz went back to Paris and bought the Lauzun Palace on the Place Vendome. It contained only 20 apartments, the demand for which was so insistent, that Ritz expanded less than two years later. He bought a structure on the Rue Cambon, built an arcade to connect it with the Lauzun Palace—and that's the way it's been ever since—200 rooms with a staff of 450 to give guests the kind of service they wish they were accustomed to. No electricity is allowed in the kitchen; the chefs claim it makes the "specialites de la maison" taste different—and heaven forbid that anything come along to disturb the ritual established 64 years ago!

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—(INS)—was another Communist demonstration. But these orders to silently march through the avenues of Cracow in Communist Poland. The mute parade attracted many thousands, some of them curious enough to ask the why and the wherefor. "We must!" was the usual answer from the boys. "We must!"

Many apparently assumed it

The man who told this story is a smallish, rugged, round-headed, gray-eyed patriot whose countenance bears signs of tragedy but who can still smile occasionally. He is Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, the last free prime minister of Poland, now a leader in such groups as the International Peasant Union. He has just returned from the Union's meeting in Paris.

"Fighters for freedom in Poland and Hungary have made permanent gains," this top authority said. "Never again will the peoples of those countries be forced back into complete subjugation. They will be very careful—people want to continue living—but they'll never give up their ideal, their hope of being free."

The Soviet Union, in Mikolajczyk's opinion, has failed in a vital particular in its brutal colonialistic program. It hasn't delivered. The help it pledged China has not been delivered. It has given Egypt very little. It has milked rather than fed the various so-called People's Democracies. So there are economic as well as political and social reasons for the towering gripe of the slave states. There is pressure for a change in Russia, reports the man who once sat down and learned through trial and error that business can't be done with the Kremlin.

The Polish red army could rise when the time is ripe, despite the illegal presence in Poland of eight divisions of Soviet Union forces, the former premier said. The people could rise even before the army. They do what they can to break the back of the U.S.S.R. Even the Kremlin admits that Poland is producing hardly half the grain it did before the war.

"The greatest terror and bloodshed, such as in Hungary, won't change people dedicated to freedom," Mikolajczyk said. "I've just seen evidence of public protest as never before. We have proof of great dissension in Russia itself. There have been countless demonstrations in Georgia and the Ukraine. The pressure of public opinion in the west is being felt. It may save many thousands of freedom fighters who otherwise would be killed."

"The next three months, I think, should show whether Russia really is going along a peaceful road or intends to promote disaster. In a crisis, look for the Kremlin to call back its forces from the satellites and try to maintain a hard core of communism at home."

He wants the case of all the iron curtain countries kept before UN, with continued demands for the withdrawal of Soviet forces, calls for free elections, and a free flow of food and medical aid to the afflicted.

"But the United States should send no money to the present regime in Poland," he added thoughtfully, "unless it is given the proviso that the Polish people are to have a deciding voice in how it is used."

We asked him, in view of the horror of the repressions in Hungary and probably in his own country, if he was optimistic about the outcome.

"Yes," he said, his thoughts with those peoples. "Yes. No sacrifice is in vain. Nothing good is ever lost."

Secrets Of Charm

Snobbish, Or Just Shy?

We've all known someone we thought at first was haughty, stand-offish and uninterested in others, especially in ourselves. And then, after getting well-acquainted with the same person, we wondered how we could ever have thought such a thing. Why did this person create such a wrong impression? Wasn't the fault simply a false manner, put on to cover up shyness, and not snobbishness at all? That's the trouble with shyness. It's so often completely mislead-

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—You open one spade, partner responds two hearts, and you hold:

AKQ94753AQJ5AQJ

What do you bid now?

A—You must deliberately avoid the rebid of two spades, inasmuch as such a rebid denotes a mediocre opening. It is distinctly more important to describe the strength of your hand rather than the solidity of your suit, so that you may very good major suit should be superior to that of a two no trump rebid.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

632A10753453AQ

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1spade 1spade

What do you bid now?

A—Two hearts. Any desire to take drastic action could only have been induced by possession of the fifth trump, which may be good to the eye but has little practical value. This hand is not rich in playing strength and adds up to just about a good single raise.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

AK10642A5743952

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1heart 1spade

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You dare not bid two spades. If you do so, partner is forced to speak again and may have to bid three hearts or two no trump, neither of which will leave you in an especially comfortable position. Great caution is indicated in making free bids in a suit higher in rank than partner's.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

AK632HK7628532

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South
1diamond Pass 2hearts Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Partner is not attempting to go places. He merely is trying to play the auction cheaply as possible rather than permit the opposition to buy for the part score. If he had even the slightest ambition he would have entered the auction immediately over the opening bid of one diamond, at which point, it would have been very easy for him to complete. Therefore, do not bid two spades which partner may not be prepared to play. Pass.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

AK2HA9753643AJ7

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1spade Pass 2hearts Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You dare not bid two spades. If you do so, partner is forced to speak again and may have to bid three hearts or two no trump, neither of which will leave you in an especially comfortable position. Great caution is indicated in making free bids in a suit higher in rank than partner's.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

AK10642A5743952

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1heart 1spade

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You dare not bid two spades. If you do so, partner is forced to speak again and may have to bid three hearts or two no trump, neither of which will leave you in an especially comfortable position. Great caution is indicated in making free bids in a suit higher in rank than partner's.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

AK10642A5743952

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1heart 1spade

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You dare not bid two spades. If you do so, partner is forced to speak again and may have to bid three hearts or two no trump, neither of which will leave you in an especially comfortable position. Great caution is indicated in making free bids in a suit higher in rank than partner's.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AK762HA9753643AJ7

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1heart 1spade

What do you bid now?

A—While this is a penalty double and you can no doubt defeat the contract, it may not be worthwhile. You have surely a game and perhaps even a slam in the other suit and you should take the double out. However, the proper call is three hearts, a jump. If you had that snatching that you are looking for the double of one no trump, it has nothing but little practical value. This hand is not rich in playing strength and adds up to just about a good single raise.

Q. 9—As South you hold:

AK10642A5743952

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1heart 1spade

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You dare not bid two spades. If you do so, partner is forced to speak again and may have to bid three hearts or two no trump, neither of which will leave you in an especially comfortable position. Great caution is indicated in making free bids in a suit higher in rank than partner's.

Q. 10—As South you hold:

AK10642A5743952

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Q. 12—As South you hold:

AK10642A5743952

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1heart 1spade

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You dare not bid two spades. If you do so, partner is forced to speak again and may have to bid three hearts or two no trump, neither of which will leave you in an especially comfortable position. Great caution is indicated in making free bids in a suit higher in rank than partner's.

Q. 13—As South you hold:

AK10642A5743952

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1heart 1spade

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You dare not bid two spades. If you do so, partner is forced to speak again and may have to bid three hearts or two no trump, neither of which will leave you in an especially comfortable position. Great caution is indicated in making free bids in a suit higher in rank than partner's.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our dear mother and wife, Elizabeth J. Smiley, who passed away Nov. 12, 1951.
As the days come and years roll by
In our hearts a memory is kept
Of the one we loved and will never forget.
Husband, Mr. M. M. Smiley
Daughters, Goldie Minnie
June Eccleston

Audited Report Shows Chest Got $151,064

Ort Is Commended For His Leadership

An audited report presented to the Board of Directors of the Cumberland Community Chest shows that $151,64.20 was raised in the 1956-57 Chest campaign.

The sum is slightly less than the un-audited $152,428.15 which was reported at the Victory Meeting of Chest leaders October 25.

Additional small sums of cash and pledges are still being reported, and it is anticipated that the additional amounts coming in will boost the total past the Victory Day reports.

The total was reported Thursday night by Lewis J. Ort, general chairman of the campaign which raised a record sum to support the work of this city's Red Feather agencies during the coming year.

Ort Is Commended

In his formal report, Mr. Ort made recommendations for a year-round publicity program for the Chest and suggestions for improving future campaigns.

Directors of the Chest commended Ort for his dynamic leadership in the successful fund drive.

In a brief reply, the Chest leader expressed appreciation to workers for an excellent job done and to the 16,044 firms and individuals who contributed to the Red Feather drive.

Dr. Charles L. Kopp, president, announced that the success of the drive will provide the $3,600 asked to employ a woman and girls' secretary for Central YMCA.

The expenditure was approved by the Chest's budget committee in case the goal of $137,284 was met.

The audited report, accepted by the board at its meeting Thursday, showed that all four major divisions of the fund drive exceeded their goals.

Is 10% Over

The Residential Division collected $5,728.62 from 2,191 subscribers to raise 104.1 per cent of its goal.

The Sales Army turned in $7,950.90 from 843 subscribers for 101 per cent of its goal.

The Classified Division turned in $64,343.68 from 12,725 subscribers for 101 per cent of its goal.

The Classified Division turned in $64,343.68 from 12,725 subscribers for 125.4 per cent of its goal.

Advance Gifts, which got the victorious campaign rolling, raised $73,401 from 283 subscribers for 100.5 per cent of its goal.

The $151,064 raised to date represents 110 per cent of the goal, which was the highest in the history of the Cumberland Community Chest.

Also accepted by the Chest leaders was the October financial report, which showed $7,447.56 receipts from 1955-56 pledges, disbursements of $12,053.81 during the month and a balance of $3,073.90 on hand November 1.

Total receipts from 1955-56 pledges were $103,329.30, or 89 per cent of all pledges.

Stamp Club To Install

The Fort Cumberland Philatelic Society will celebrate National Stamp Collecting Week by installing its new officers at a meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the council chamber of City Hall.

James Tole, publicity director, said Brother Nicholas of LaSalle is the new president. The group will begin its monthly stamp auction, talks and displays on the "hobby of kids and kings" tomorrow.

The theme of National Stamp Collecting Week is "The Children of America." A special stamp will be issued soon to celebrate the theme.

The club is open to juniors and seniors and meets the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. Tole also said the people of Cumberland are invited to attend all the meetings and displays during the week of celebration.

Royal Arch Masons To Confer Degrees

Salem Chapter No. 18, Royal Arch Masons, will confer the Mark Master and Past Master Degrees, tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Masonic Temple, Greene Street. All Royal Arch Masons are urged to attend this ceremonial. Refreshments will be served after the degree work.

Congress, in 1954, changed the day in this country from Armistice Day to Veterans Day in order to honor those who served in all United States wars. But the basic purpose of the day remains the same and is set aside in the title of the legislation, "A day dedicated to world peace."

Throughout the Tri-State Area, most communities plan observances in the form of parades and memorials. Some were held yesterday, others will take place today. Cumberland will hold its annual parade at 7 p. m. today in the downtown area.

But no matter which day a public or official observance is held, it is noted that November 11 means a day of hope in many lands.

Dedicated to the cause of peace, it marks the anniversary of the close of World War I, and is a legal holiday in all the 48 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Panama Canal Zone. The day is also commemorated with patriotic observances in Britain, France and Canada.

On November 11, 1918, a worldwide and spontaneously wild explosion of joy marked the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month when the cease-fire order became effective in Europe.

This demonstration of hysteria in the Allied countries finally gave way to a more thoughtful and pensive idea that November 11 should be set aside permanently as a special day, to remind future generations of the price of peace, the cost of war, and the sacrifices of the living and dead.

Woodrow Wilson, on November 11, 1919, issued the first of many Presidential proclamations on the day. The ceremonies that resulted took the form of parades, speeches and wreath-laying. For two minutes at 11 a. m. everything stopped—and for two minutes in school, office, factory and on the street, the nation paused to remember.

France buried her unknown soldier under the Arc de Triomphe in Paris on Armistice Day, 1920. An eternal flame was lighted in a circular brazier at the head of the tomb.

Britain placed an unknown soldier in Westminster Abbey on the same day, and erected a memorial cenotaph in nearby Whitehall, the London thoroughfare flanked by government offices.

Meanwhile, the United States brought home the body of an unidentified doughboy who had fallen on the fields of France. His body lay in state beneath the Capital Rotunda, and on November 11, 1921, just 25 years ago, he was enshrined on a crest of Arlington cemetery beneath a white monument bearing the inscription:

"Here rests in honored glory an American Soldier known but to God."

The marching feet of a perpetual guard of honor still tread there.

As annual celebrations have come and gone, so have other wars, adding their toll of wounded, dead, suffering and sacrifice. To the veteran ranks of World War I have been added men who were not at the Argonne or Belleau Wood, but who waded through the surf of Normandy, the sands of Iwo Jima, the rice paddies of the Philippines and the mud of Korea.

Even now, 38 years after the cease-fire which created Armistice Day, sabres rattle, as diplomats struggle to preserve the peace and to prevent another world war.

In Canada, France and Britain, November 11 is observed as a holiday, as it is in this country. France calls the day "Jour de l'Armistice." Britain still calls it Armistice Day. In Canada it is known as Remembrance Day.

Four Division Parade Is Set For Tonight

Veterans Day Affair To Begin At 8 P.M.

Cumberland will observe Veterans Day today and will highlight the day's festivities with a grand parade beginning at 8 p. m.

Thomas F. Conlon, grand marshal, said last night the Mayor and City Council will lead the parade to the reviewing stand on Centre Street, in front of City Hall, where they will disembark and review the remainder of the five sections of marchers.

The parade will form on Centre Street in the vicinity of the Armory, march to Union, George and Baltimore streets, up Centre to Market Street, down Mechanic to Baltimore Street, to South George and Harrison streets before disbanding at the Armory.

Collection Planned

Preceding the marching units will be members of the 408 "Bucket Brigade" and Allegany County Heart Association, who will collect contributions for the latter organization.

The parade will be led by City and State Police, with a Marine Corps color group following.

The first division will be comprised of the Allegany High School Senior Band, Headquarters Company, First Battalion, Maryland National Guard, and Company C, 115th Infantry, Maryland National Guard.

The Fort Hill High School Senior Band will lead the second division, which will include the Sixth Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps; Marine Corps League and Tri-State Chapter of the Gold Star Mothers.

R. Thomas Farrell will be marshal for the third division, in

College Students To Hear Symphony Performance

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra will play three other concerts this week in addition to the one here Thursday evening in Fort Hill High School auditorium.

The orchestra will perform at the Lyric Theatre in Baltimore Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, and will give a concert Thursday afternoon at Frostburg State Teachers College for the students only.

Thursday's gala appearance here is drawing the largest out-of-town patronage of many years. Approximately 300 tickets have been reserved by music lovers outside Cumberland from Western Maryland, nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania, and usually the final three days before a concert sees the biggest demand for tickets.

The program here will begin with Von Suppe's "Morning, Noon and Night," followed by Tchaikovsky's "Fourth Symphony"; a group of Kreisler melodies orchestrated by Massimo Freccia, conductor of the orchestra, and Ravel's "La Valse," a three-part composition, that ranks high in world popularity.

Reserved seats may still be purchased at Vandegriff's Music Shop, Baltimore Street, and Syckes Music Store, North Centre Street.

Telephone orders for tickets are being accepted by the Times-News bureau offices in Frostburg and Keyser.

Orchestra seats are $2.75 and $2.20 and balcony seats $2.75, $2.20 and $1.75. Special tickets are available for students at $1.10.

The concert is being held under the auspices of the Cumberland Times-News papers for the benefit of the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Church Begins Revival Week

The Church of the Brethren, Second and Cedar Streets, began a week of revival meetings last night, according to Rev. Wayne J. Eberly, pastor.

The meetings will be held each evening starting at 7:30 p. m. At tonight's meeting, the men's chorus of the Meyersdale Church of the Brethren will present a sacred concert.

Guest speaker for the services each day will be Rev. Bernard N. King, pastor of Ashland Church of the Brethren, Ashland, Ohio.

Rev. Mr. King taught school at one time in Garrett County, and later served churches in that area. He has also had pastorates in Illinois, Kansas, Pennsylvania, and has been a his present church in Ashland since 1952.

Music will be furnished throughout the week by Wiley Ford and Keyser Brethren Churches. The revival will end Sunday.

Seven Persons Hurt In Two Auto Mishaps

Mrs. Thomas Is Admitted To Hospital

One person was admitted to Memorial Hospital and others were treated for minor injuries following two separate automobile accidents yesterday.

Admitted was Mrs. Bobette Thomas, 16, of Sharon, Pa., who suffered a possible fractured right leg, possible broken jaw, chest injuries and laceration of the forehead. X-rays will be taken today, attendants said. Her condition is listed as "fairly good."

Mrs. Thomas was injured when the car which her husband, Robert L. Thomas, 19, was driving, crashed into a bridge abutment near Yoder's Store, Pinto Road off U. S. Route 220.

Another car driven by Flora Ethel Logsdon, 55, of 126 Center Street, Frostburg, struck the Thomas car when the latter failed to give right-of-way on the one-way bridge.

Driver Is Held

Thomas suffered a lip abrasion and was released from the hospital. Also treated and released were two passengers in the Thomas car. They were James Miller, 21, Route 6, Mercer, Pa., owner of the automobile, who had a large-sized lump on his head, and Miss Judy Schweiss, 15, of Sharon, Pa., who suffered a sprained left ankle and abrasions of the right thigh.

Tie, Donald Wade of the Maryland State Police, investigated the mishap which occurred about 5:45 p. m. He placed Thomas under arrest on two state motor vehicle charges. Thomas is being held in Allegany County Jail pending his hearing.

In the other automobile accident about 3 p. m. yesterday, two elderly women and a companion were treated at Memorial Hospital for minor hurts received when the car in which they were riding collided with a pole on Mt. Savage Road.

Bee Enters Car

Attendees said Mrs. Bessie Callis, 68, of 399 East Oldtown Road was treated for a lacerated forehead; Mrs. Sadie Cook, 70, of 208 Knox Street, suffered abrasions on the right leg; and Mrs. Ethel Shoemaker, 55, of 219 Race Street, had lacerations on the right leg.

C. B. Callis, 70, husband of Mrs. Callis, was driving the car. Authorities said he lost control of the vehicle when a bee got into the car and the occupants attempted to get rid of it. T. John Browning investigated.

Supervisors To Be Named

Allegany County farmers this month will be asked to choose three of five nominees for three-year terms on the Board of Supervisors of the Allegany Soil Conservation District.

Ballots were to have been mailed out over the weekend to all farmers in the county. They are to be returned to the office of County Agent Joseph M. Steger on or before November 27, when they will be counted.

The nominees are Floyd Buser, Oliver Belt Road; Estel Hennen, Flintstone; D. T. Puffinberger, Little Orleans; Gruffin Shumaker, Rawlings, and Ernest Slider, Town Creek.

Buser and Slider were elected three years ago. Puffinberger was appointed last year to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dale Mann. Fennen and Shumaker have never been on the board.

The other two board members, Wilbert Paul of Mt. Savage and Charles Harvey of Shaft, are appointed by the State Soil Conservation Committee.

Shrine Will Plan Fall Ceremonial

Ali Ghan Temple, A. O. N. M. S., will meet Friday at 8 p. m. in the Ali Ghan Shrine County Club.

Business will include the completion of plans for the temple's fall ceremonial, which will be held Saturday, December 15, at the Shrine County Club.

Flag Is Donated For Cresap Grave

Mrs. Ann Kerns, Freemont, Ohio, has donated a flag to be placed on the grave of Captain Michael Cresap at Oldtown, on Veterans Day.

Ross Shaw, who accepted the flag for the Cresap Society, said this marks the 168th year since Capt. Cresap's death. He noted that a new flag is placed on the grave each Memorial and Veterans Day. Mrs. Kerns is a prominent member of the Ohio State Historical Society.

Joins Marines

George Thomas Komatz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Komatz, Eckhart Mines, enlisted in the Marine Corps November 6 and transferred to Parris Island, S. C. for recruit training, according to Sgt. Clifton Shotwell, local Marine recruiter.

Optimists Distribute Mottoes

Members of the Cumberland Optimist Club open Optimist Week by distributing cards containing the Optimist Creed to passersby on Baltimore Street. The club has planned activities each day this week with the highlight being the Optimist of the Year award dinner Wednesday at Central YMCA. Shown passing out mottoes to C. W. Rice (extreme right) are Carl Winfield, Harold D. Brooks, president, Frederick H. Anderson, Kenneth Shaffer and D. L. Miller.
